HONGKONG, JANUARY 30TH, 1888,

THE French Press and people appear to have been greatly exercised over the Tonquin question. A good deal of exaggeration has naturally found its way into the French papers, but it has needed a very forcible expression of opinion, not, only by the Press but from Admiral JAUREQUIBERY, the Minister for the Colonies, to induce the Government to adopt the Bill providing for the despatch of an expedition to Tonquin. The Minister for the Colonies at a meeting of the Cabinet Council held at the Elysée on the 21st December reminded his colleagues that France had already troops at Tonquin and that her interests there were great. He posted to be authoritative, that Sir J. P. Henwent on to show that the honour of the possy was to be our new Governor. It was at once French flag being at stake, the Government ever he entered upon office here, would be signa. Which the Commission was composed were of this been felt merely in the ordinary course of lang by you, and described by others, can you form and on getting out, he forgot a coat he was carry- been so strong as to blow down some gables. The could not remain disinterested spectators of what happened in those regions. If present state of affairs there were to be tolerated much longer the prestige of France in the Far East, so indispensable for the security of her settlements in Cochin-China, would be seriously compromised. Moreover, the Admiral contended that it was necessary in the interests of French commerce to establish definitively the Protectorate of France over Tonquin. The rest of the Ministry "GREYY ending the discussion by saying that he would no longer oppose it. It was there. Still the contradiction of this rumour same with tion cannot be carried out until the Central to the possibility are you able to give any Tonguin, the vote for the purpose being 11,000,000 france. A week later the ex- Sir John is not coming, and the announcement staff recommended appointed it will cease to be added to the disease from what I have heard, only 750 troops, a very small contingent slothful Tonquinese. Were we to limit the expedition to four men and a a corporal the auducity of the 'Black Flage'

"and of the Chinese would only increase. "We must therefore send a force calculated to overcome the Celestial Empire and its "secret allies, the pirates. This is the best means of avoiding a sanguinary conflict." The four men and a corporal are, however, coming out to plant the tricolour on the border districts of Tonquin, and if the Chinose are inclined to oppose them they ough to be able in a week to sweep every trace of accident occurred to a young seaman on board a Frenchman out of Tonquin. It must be a source of supreme vexation to all patriotic be joined the ship just before she left England Frenchmon to find their feeble Government dealing in so half-hearted a way with a question which, if not of vital importance to down again, but in getting from the top-mast the nation, at all events nearly concerns the maintenance of French prostige in the Bar East. The policy of annexation is favoured by the French people; but the French Govern. ment fear to embark upon a decided course, and this inspite of the strong expressions in almost every French journal. There can be no doubt; we think, that some arrangement has been come to with China, and there will be no open rupture. It is probable that the Free th will assume the protectorate of Tonquin, but the provinces bordering Yunnan will be declared neutral ground. Some such agreement has been come to-an agreement that will certainly operate chiefly to the advantage of China. Had the French Authorities stood firm the Government of Peking would no doubt have accepted the inevitable with a good grace. But the mandarina have learned how to " bluff" their opponents, and by as-possible that we may be mistaken, and that the "four men and a corporal" may effect wonders upon their arrival in Cochin-China. The Baffe had a march out yesterday morning t 9 a.m. in the direction of the Race Course.

An Australian paper says that Lord Charles. Scott was expected at Melbourne in January, to marry a near relative of Lady Clarke. The P. & O. steamer Pekin, with the next outward English mail, left Sin apore for Hongkong at 8 a.m. on Sunday, the 25th instant.

In their commercial circular dated Manila, 15th January, Messrs, J. M., Tuason & Co., say that the market there is recovering gradually from the offects of cholera and the typhoous, but they fear that it will take some time before business resumes its old state.

The laws against Chinese in Australia are vidently sofereed with rigour. Two Chinamen who lately managed to cross into New South Wales at Echuca without paying the poli-tax were traced to Mathoura and arrested. Being unable to pay the fine and the poll-tax they have been sent to good for twelve months.

THE "FEAST OF LIGHTS. The Jews have just celebrated the 2,020th anniversary of the re-dedication of the Temple at Jorusalem after the victorious revolt of the Maccabees. The observance commenced on the 25th day of the Hebrew month Kisley, and was continued for eight days. It is still customary to burn commemorative lights in the homes and synagogues of Jews during each evening of the festival, in remembrance of the miracle that on regaining possession of the Temple a flask of sacred oil which was found unpolluted lasted for eight nights, until fresh could be procured. Under ordinary circumstances the flask only sufficed for one evening's use. Hence the name "Feast of Lights." The Hebrew name is Chanukah, meaning "Dedication." There is no probibition of labour on Chanukah, and the festivities are usually only, kept up in the evenings after the lights are lit and the day's work is done. The circumstances commemorated by the "Feast of Lights" are pro-- bably the most momentous in Jewish bistory.
